

PICTURE COVERS – COSTUMED PREHISTORIC CAVEPEOPLE

ASIA & AUSTRALIA

In order by country and release dates

ISRAEL

PC-CCP-AS1 Israel ca.Early 1960s

EP: I GO APE

LP: I GO APE

Perf: Wee Willie Harris (Marginal Rock)

Label: (EP) Arton/ Hed Arzi EP-207

(LP) Arton/ Hed Arzi AN 64-99

Photos: (Black & white and Color) (?)

For the Israeli LP color cover he is again seen in the leopard skin outfit, this time sticking out his tongue and raising clawed hands to attack a girl in the audience.

Both of these Israeli releases are considered extremely rare.

For more information about this song see under Marginal Cave Music – Rock – I Go Ape.

JAPAN

PC-CCP-AM6 Japan 1982

LP: QUEST FOR FIRE

Perf: (Studio Orchestra) (Film Music)

Label: RCA RPL - 8133

Photos: (Color) (Not credited)

Notes: A still from a scene in the movie showing the trio from the Ulam tribe, Naoh, Amoukar, and Gaw crouching up a tree trying to escape two lions.

For information about the cave-inspired cue on this album see under Film Music – Prehistory – La Guerre du feu (Quest for Fire).

AUSTRALIA

PC-CCP-AS2 Australia 1993

EP-CD: CAVEMAN

Perf: Floyd Vincent & The Childbrides (Rock – Folk Rock)

Label: Rufus RF 003

Photo: (Color) (?)

Notes: A clever cover photo in a dried lake bed does a takeoff on the classic illustration showing the ascending evolution of man from the ape to homo sapiens. Starting with the lead guitarist in black playing an acoustic guitar on the right and moving left to the stooping naked caveman carrying a stone axe that hides his sex, next a crouching more primitive caveman, and finally a chimpanzee.
